COAL FIELDS QUIET AS MINERS AWAIT WAGE SETTLEMENTS

PESSIMISM WIDESPREAD AS 75,000 MEN ARE IDLE BECAUSE OF WAGE DISPUTES

Chicago, April 2.—(U.P.)—Quiet reigned over a large share of the nation's coal fields today—the quiet of still machinery and idle men.

Wage disagreements have thrown 75,000 men out of work in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and West Virginia. And in Kentucky a long standing bitter dispute grew more bitter.

The traditional April first holiday for union workers celebrating inauguration of the 8-hour day ushered in widespread pessimism over most of the mining territory with the exception of Pennsylvania.

Illinois union heads and operators prepared for the fifth week of negotiation for a new wage contract. The Illinois shutdown was occasioned by failure to agree on the basis of compensation for 41,000 union workers who have thus far refused a reduction from the old scale of $6.10 a day.

Indiana shaft mines were similarly affected, but unlike Illinois owners, the Indiana operators contemplated continuing production with non-union workers. Indiana block and strip mines will operate on the old scale.

Union representatives claimed 25,000 men were on strike in the Ohio and West Virginia fields where operators announced a reduction which union miners refused to accept. A number of mines in this territory had already closed and conditions in some districts were reported acute.

IDENTIFY PICTURES THREE BANK YEGGS

Minneapolis, April 2.—(U.P.)—Pictures of three Chicago gunmen had been identified today as members of a gang of seven that held up the North American Bank of $175,000 in cash and securities.

Chief of Police William Meehan, who has taken personal charge of apprehending the bandits who slugged and terrorized 21 employees and seven customers in the bank Tuesday, announced the identification from photographs received from Chicago authorities.

Meehan asked Chicago police for photographs of companions known to associate with Bernard Phillips, 35, former convict, whose picture was the first identified by the holdup victims. Pictures of two members of Phillips' associates were likewise identified. One was known as Clyde Bridges, with a police record in Illinois.

Information concerning the persons whose pictures were sent here led Meehan to announce that he believed the bandits arrived in Minneapolis by airplane from Chicago. Locally, Meehan said, they met another gang member who had planned the holdup.

SHOOTING PRECEDES ELECTION CAMPAIGN

Chicago, April 2.—(U.P.)—Violence entered the Chicago primary election to be held April 12 today with the fatal shooting of Nicholas Tesca, precinct captain in the 25th ward.

This ward is the scene of the candidacy of William Parrillo, assistant U. S. district attorney, who is running for Republican ward committeeman. Parrillo brought a $250,000 slander suit against Frank J. Loesch, veteran crime fighter, recently when Loesch characterized him as "a known adherent of Al Calone."

Tesca died in the hospital several hours after the shooting.

Tesca was shot down at the door of his home by two men whom he charged two weeks ago warned him to cease activity in support of James Savage, Parrillo's principal opponent. Loesch's charges, made in connection with the senate hearings on the promotion of U. S. District Judge James H. Wilkinson, alleged five opponents of Parrillo had been kidnapped and forced to sign withdrawals from

Bandits Open Fire After Rancher Tells Them Proceeds of Sale of Cattle Were Not Kept at Home and Demand for Bill of Sale for Another Herd Refused

Berino, N. M., April 2.—(U.P.)—Seven members of a wealthy, pioneer Mexican-American family were slaughtered in cold blood and two others wounded by Mexican bandits last night.

Three bandits, in an automobile, drove up to the big dairy ranch of Melquiades Espinosa, near here.

The ten members of the Espinosa family were preparing to retire. The trio roused them, and, posing Juarez, Mex., April 2.—(U.P.)—Eight mounted policemen were sent to the Rancho Flores, six miles west of here, shortly before noon today to search for the slayers of seven members of a New Mexico family.

Police Chief Miguel Villalobos said he had been informed the slayers were hiding at the ranch.

Villalobos said the trip would take most of the day.

The party was led by Officers Jose Subia and Jose Maria Almeida.

as New Mexican officials, gained entrance to the ranch house.

Once inside they drew guns, terrorized the family, and demanded $5,000 in cash. Espinosa recently had sold a herd of cattle and the bandits believed he had the money hidden on the ranch.

They also demanded a bill of sale for another herd of cattle.

Espinosa declared the money was not on the ranch.

Almost without another word, the three opened fire on the ten members of the family, huddled together in the big living room of the Adobe ranch house.

Filomena Espinosa, 48, and her five children, Louis, 32; Hipolito, 26; Andres, 23; Juanita, 12, and Felipe, 9, were killed in the first barrage of shots fired by the trio.

Feigns Death

Vincente Espinosa, 19, dropped to the floor with four bullets in his back, mortally wounded. Melquiades Espinosa, head of the family, saved his life when he feigned death after a bullet had grazed his head. He dropped to the floor and lay still, along side the bodies of his family.

His aged mother, a blind woman, and his wife, dropped to the floor and were shielded from the killers' bullets by the bodies that lay massed about them.

The three men escaped after the massacre that was reminiscent of the massacre of the three bandits were Mexicans.

Washington, April 2.—(U.P.)—War department officials indicated today that federal troops would not be used to suppress banditry on the Mexico-New Mexico border unless a specific request was made of the president by the Governor of New Mexico.

State department officials studied press reports of the raid with interest, but have not received any report on its from American consuls in Mexican border towns.

bloody Apache raids of a generation ago in the southwest.

The elder Espinosa, sobbing over the tragedy which had virtually wiped out his family, said the three bandits were Mexicans.

"I never saw them before," he told officers. "They were Mexicans and they told me at first they were New Mexico officials and wanted to see about the herd I had sold, so I let them in."

Climaxes Week Terrorism

Last night's raid was the climax of a series of bandit troubles on the border which have stricken terror into the hearts of border residents for nearly a month.

A week ago today, Mayor Louis Ravel of Columbus, N. M., demanded protection against marauding bandits, emboldened by lack of concerted resistance, who have made a half dozen forays across the border near there in the late month.

It was at Columbus that Pancho Villa and his bandit mob raided, burned, killed and kidnapped in his 1916 raids which led to the American invasion of Mexico by the army under command of General John J. Pershing.

Adj. Gen. Osborne Wood, son of the late Major General Leonard Wood, and a former United States army officer himself, head of the New Mex-

INSURGENTS' PLANS TO FIGHT HOOVER ENCOURAGES DEMS

REFUSAL OF PINCHOT, SEVERE CRITIC OF HOOVER, TO MAKE RACE UPSETS CAMPAIGN

Washington, April 2.—(U.P.)—The refusal this week of Governor Gifford Pinchot to enter the Oregon presidential primary emphasized the bewilderment of homeless progressives in this year's presidential campaign.

Republican insurgents, progressives, liberals and dissenters apparently will be compelled this year to seek self-expression by switching to the Democrats. The huge primary vote in North Dakota for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, which exceeded the regular Democratic vote of the state, indicated that insurgent Republicans there at least see hope chiefly in the Democratic party this year.

The refusal of Pinchot, one of President Hoover's severest and most persistent critics, to carry the opposition fight in Oregon, served to write a final footnote to the abandoned plans of progressives to work up a protest campaign against the renomination of the president.

Apparently Wisconsin is to be left to stand alone in its customary insurgency. The Wisconsin presidential primary Tuesday probably will result in selection of 27 Republican convention delegates hostile to the president. They probably will be pledged to Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, dean of the Republican insurgents. For years Wisconsin has sent a dissenting delegation to the Republican convention.

Western progressive Republicans like Senators George Norris, Neb., Emerson Cutting, N. M., and Gerald Nye, N. D., have indicated they may not be able to go through with the party this year. The LaFollette brothers in Wisconsin are in the same mood. Should Franklin Roosevelt be nominated by the Democrats, and should he then live up to the progressive reputation which his western workers have built for him out there, he might expect to gather thousands of votes from Mr. Hoover.

Significantly, Roosevelt's first important political speech since he officially became a presidential candidate will be made April 18 in the Twin Cities, in the heart of the insurgent belt.

ican militia, was reported in Columbus today, studying the situation there.

For years the bandits have spread terror along the border. Bands of mounted outlaws sneak across the desolate border under cover of darkness, swoop down upon some isolated ranch or town, terrorize the inhabitants, and then sneak back into the wild country of northern Mexico before posses can be formed to fight them.

Authorities Hesitant

Mexican authorities claim they cannot control the forays because the crimes all take place in the United States. United States authorities are blocked in their chase of the bandits because of the border, and international law which prevents American forces from following their quarry into Mexico.

Last night's raid was the most serious since the Columbus massacre. Just 25 miles southeast of the little ranch, lies Fort Bliss, at El Paso, where 2,800 American soldiers, under command of Brig. Gen. Walter C. Short, are stationed.

General Short, at the time of Ravel's plea for aid, declared the entire 2,800 troops, if need be, could be moved to Columbus territory on three hours notice.

Short is empowered to move his troops to any point along the border where danger threatens at any time, upon his own discretion.

He said then that he was studying the bandit situation. It could not be immediately determined whether last night's raid would lead to a movement of the United States troops.

WOLLAN SEES DAVIS AS POSSIBLE G. O. P. GOVERNOR NOMINEE

POLITICAL WRITER OF ST. PAUL DAILY NEWS FORECASTS DAVIS' CANDIDACY

St. Paul, April 2.—(U.P.)—G. E. Wollan, political writer of the St. Paul Daily News, today said that Tom Davis, Minneapolis attorney may become a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination against Earl E. Brown, endorser of the party convention. Wollan quotes Davis as saying that "it is too early to make any definite statement."

"You can say for me, however," Davis was quoted as saying, "and for thousands of other Minnesota republicans that we don't want to see the republican party in this state controlled by the big chain banks and railroads, the most vicious and reactionary influences that ever attempted to dominate the party."

"These republicans would like to have a progressive nominated for governor."

Wollan in his story continued: "In political circles the reported movement to get Mr. Davis into the race for the republican gubernatorial nomination is believed to be for the purpose of keeping the republicans on their own side of the fence at the June 20 primaries so they cannot flock into the democratic primaries and help the democratic 'rumpers' nominate their candidate for governor."

"The 'rumpers' are on record, by resolution adopted at their convention in St. Paul on March 9, last, as emphatically opposed to any deal or fusion with the farmer-laborites whereby democratic support of Gov. Olson for re-election would be traded for farmer-labor support of the democratic presidential candidate."

"Nomination of the 'rumper' candidates for state offices would also give them control of the democratic party machinery in the state, it is pointed out, and enable them to name the state chairman and central committee. Such a result would be pleasing, according to political observers, to the republican state leaders who don't want to see democratic-farmer-labor fusion to help Gov. Olson and thus make so much harder their task of electing Mr. Brown."

Minneapolis, Minn., April 2.—(U.P.)—Five Minneapolis officials, seeking to negotiate a $2,000,000 public relief loan, will confer Monday with bankers.

The five officials are Aldermen O. J. Turner and Frank H. Brown; C. A. Bloomquist, city treasurer; J. E. Meyers, members of the board of estimates, and Jonas Weil, vice president of the board of public welfare.

The action in seeking a loan was taken after M. U. S. Kjarlaug, superintendent of the city's poor relief, said that 9,000 families had asked for aid from the city. Since Jan. 1, Minneapolis has sold $600,000 in public relief bonds.

CLERICS ANSWER ROOSEVELT BLAST 'PUBLICITY SEEKERS'

CLERGYMEN DECLARE "TAM-MANY BRAND" IS AS CLEAR AS "STRIPES OF THE TIGER"

New York, April 2.—(U.P.)—"The Tammany brand" is as clear on the record of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt "as the stripes of a tiger," Dr. John Haynes Holmes and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise replied to Roosevelt's rebuke in refusing their request that he act to remove two New York Democratic officials.

The stinging reply came as a letter read during a meeting conducted by two city affairs committee chairmen last night. It said the governor was guilty of the "sheerest quibbling," that he was "weak" and "ambitious," a "dangerous combination," that he had removed Sheriff Thomas M. Farley only when Samuel Seabury, counsel for the Hofstadter committee, compelled him to act.

The governor had rebuked the two clergymen as "publicity seekers" with little regard for the rights of justice held by others; he said they wanted him to exert pressure on a court, and to remove a man elected by voters who knew his complete record when they elected him.

SEEK $2,000,000 PUBLIC RELIEF LOAN

Philadelphia, April 2.—(U.P.)—Hunger faces 250,000 Philadelphians with the city's relief fund of $5,000,000 virtually exhausted and food riots imminent.

And 59,629 families entirely dependent upon the Lloyd unemployment committee for an average of $4.50 a week, their bare existence, will be doomed to untold suffering unless the state or other sources lend a hand, it was said.

MILLS BRANDS TAX BILL DISCRIMINATORY AS HOUSE VOTES PASSAGE

Controversy Between Treasury Head and Democratic House Revolves Around Question Reduction of Government Expenditures

Washington, April 2.—(U.P.)—Sec. of Treasury Mills asserted today that the tax bill passed by the house contains serious defects and discriminations.

Washington, April 2.—(U.P.)—The tax battle shifted to the senate today as Republicans and Democrats sharply disputed whether the house had quite balanced the budget in passing a billions dollar revenue bill.

Seven weeks of committee hearings and three weeks of debate brought the house yesterday to an overwhelming vote of 327 to 64 for enactment of the next tax bill.

The Democratic-controlled ways and means committee estimated the revenue measure, coupled with proposed economies, would balance the budget for the next fiscal year and leave $21,900,000 to spare. Secretary of Treasury Mills insisted the program fell short by $88,100,000.

The controversy between Secretary Mills and the Democratic house leaders revolved largely around the question of reductions of government expenditures below budget estimates. The house leaders declared they would cut expenses at least $200,000,000—and it is congress that has the power to say how much shall be spent. Mills said expenses could be cut only $125,000,000. He also claimed the ways and means committee over-estimated the yield of the new taxes.

Here is how the two sides add up their figures, both taking $1,241,000,000 as the amount needed to balance the government's four billion dollar budget:

Yield of new taxes, $1,032,400,000.
Increases in postal revenue, $30,500,000.

Economies, $200,000,000.
Total, $1,262,900,000.

Leaving a surplus of $21,900,000.
Mills' Estimate

Yield of new taxes, $997,400,000.
Increases in postal revenue, $30,500,000.

Economies, $125,000,000.
Total, $1,152,900,000.

Leaving a deficit of $88,100,000.

Washington, April 2.—(U.P.)—Following is a complete list of the new taxes carried in the revenue bill as it was passed by the house. The yields given are those estimated by the house ways and means committee. The treasury estimates total $35,000,000 less.

SECRET SIX GAINS RELEASE KIDNAPED WEALTHY PHYSICIAN

RETURNS HIM TO HIS HOME UNHARMED AND WITHOUT PAYMENT OF RANSOM

Peoria, Ill., April 2.—(U.P.)—The Chicago Secret Six, unique organization of business men crime fighters, today scored another victory with the return to his home unharmed and without payment of ransom of Dr. James H. Parker, 65, wealthy physician kidnapped March 14.

Coincident with the safe return of the physician two well-known Peoria men were taken into custody on orders of Alexander Jamie, Secret Six director, who with several detectives has been working secretly on the case since the disappearance of Dr. Parker.

The men were Joseph H. Pursfull, attorney, and J. B. Betson, contractor and one-time mayoralty candidate.

Although several demands for ransom were made to Parker's wife during the abduction, Police Chief Thomas McCann said the kidnapping was not for ransom. Parker, who is president of the Tax Securities corporation of Chicago, was kidnapped by enemies for an unrevealed purpose, McCann said.

Jamie revealed the two men were taken into custody Wednesday after, he charged, they had attempted to act the role of go-betweens in the abduction. Both of the men have been prominent in local reform activities.

RETURN LINDBERGH CHILD IN MID-SEA HINTED BY PAPER

STATEN ISLAND ADVANCE DISCLOSES PLANS FOR RELEASE LINDBERGH SON

New York, April 2.—(U.P.)—Hope for return of Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., kidnapped more than a month ago—turned to the sea today with new reports that the child was safe aboard a boat beyond the 12 mile limit.

The Staten Island advance in a copyrighted article said United States immigration authorities have been advised the baby was safe on a small boat and would be returned at mid-sea to a larger vessel, possibly a freighter, after ransom had been paid. The United Press meantime learned authorities are proceeding on the theory that the child is on a vessel at sea, alive.

Ransom demands, it was hinted, have been increased beyond the original $50,000 asked in the note left in the nursery.

According to information current along the coast, the newspaper said, the baby at present is a hostage on the small craft beyond the 12 mile limit. It is possible even that the child is aboard the boat now in a European port.

When the actual exchange is made, the newspaper said, the small boat will pull up along a larger craft, possibly a freighter and ransom money will be dropped overboard from the larger vessel. Then the child will be transferred and be brought back to its parents.

The newspaper recalled that immigration authorities have been working in the Sourland mountain district in which the Lindbergh home is located. It also recalled that Major Charles H. Schoeffel, assistant superintendent of New Jersey state police, now is en route to England on a mission in connection with the kidnapping case.

The Staten Island newspaper said immigration authorities at quarantine and the coast guard base at Clifton, N. J., had been advised that the child was to be returned at sea and both have been ordered to look out for the vessel bringing the child back home. It was pointed out that a transfer beyond the 12-mile limit would be outside police jurisdiction.

2 CONVICTED BY PLEAS ARSON; MATRON GETS YEAR TERM; LEADER SOUGHT IN WEST

Following a year's investigation by State Fire Marshal H. V. Himsl, St. Cloud, and Fire Chief Frank Fuller, charges of arson were read to two defendants in district court here this morning before Judge B. F. Wright.

Pleas of guilty to arson in the third degree in connection with a fire in the LeDoux residence, 311 North 11th street, Brainerd, January 29, 1931, were entered by Mrs. Rose LeDoux, 35, recently of Duluth and Fred Kimbrell, 21, Brainerd.

Draws Year Term
Mrs. LeDoux was sentenced to one year in the women's reformatory at Shakopee, Minn. Kimbrell was sentenced to St. Cloud reformatory and th sentence suspended on his good behavior.

A third party, whom investigators stated was the leader, is sought in California for Brainerd authorities. The defendant wanted on a warrant charging arson in the third degree is Leo LeDoux, 19, son of Mrs. LeDoux.

Requests Leniency
County Attorney A. J. Sullivan requested leniency for the two defendants today, stating that they had been willing to tell the entire truth in the case. Confessions were formerly obtained.

The investigators stated that suspicion of incendiarism arose immediately at the time firemen extinguished the blaze which did an estimated damage of $485.

Confessions revealed that fire was started in rags behind a stove in the home at 8 p. m. and extinguished itself, kerosene was poured on the rags and again ignited at 10:30 p. m.

Investigators charged the blaze was set to collect insurance.

Another arson charge was brought to the attention of district court by Himsl, this one at Bemidji, the official reported.

Himsl stated that a confession was secured from Hec Smith and the defendant plead guilty to first degree arson before Judge Graham Torrance at Bemidji yesterday. Smith was charged with burning a dwelling in when this bank was established, the founders set down two ideals for which to strive. First, they wanted to give people a safe depository for their money. Second, they wanted to create an institution that would foster commercial growth of this city by extending credit to worthy business projects. Our founders built strongly and well, and we have carried on.

MORE FOR OUR TAX MONEY—

Washington correspondents seem to be agreed that something like a "tax rebellion" is sweeping the nation today.

Fundamentally, this movement is one of bitter protest against heavy municipal and state taxes. It got into the federal picture when the sales tax was proposed; and it did it because the ordinary citizen felt that here was just one more direct assault on his pocketbook. Back of it there is a widespread feeling that a steadily rising tax bill is becoming altogether too much of a burden to be borne meekly.

It is too early now to guess what will come of it. Taxes have never been popular; the present flurry may be nothing more than an intensification of the average man's perennial grumble at the financial demands of the various governments he supports. But if it lasts long enough, and becomes hot enough, it might lead to a good deal of good.

To begin with, it might convince all governmental agencies, from county trustees on up to the federal Congress, that they should spend less money. Better yet, however, is the chance that it would at last bring home to the electorate at large the terrific inefficiency and expense that any government of and by politicians always involves.

Expensive as our governments are, they can hardly cut down materially on the number of things they do. Cities cannot stop spending money lavishly on schools, police and fire departments, playgrounds and the like. County governments must continue to support courts and prosecutors, and must keep extensive road building and repair programs going. State governments must support a host of essential activities; and Uncle Sam himself, certainly, might well do more than he is doing rather than less.

The whole point is that practically every one of these activities costs a great deal more than it should—because of the waste, extravagance and graft caused by politics.

The way to lower taxes must, in the end, come through a return to efficient and honest government. When favoritism, fraud and special privilege are abolished, our various governments can give us far more than they are giving us now, and can do it for far less money.

WHO THE FAKIR FOOLS—

The Indian fakir who got his name in the papers the other day when he swallowed a quart of deadly poison and ate a handful of broken glass, in the fond belief that because of his saintliness they would not hurt him, seems to have been more like ordinary mortals than he thought. At any rate, he very speedily died, and proved quite conclusively that the flesh of an Indian mystic is no less vulnerable than that of anyone else.

But his case is interesting for the simple reason that it sheds a revealing light on the mental attitude that those wonder-workers often have. This man, quite obviously, was perfectly sincere in his magical pose; and more charlatans possess that kind of sincerity than we usually suppose.

The wonder-worker usually deludes himself before he deludes anyone else. He may be an utter fraud, but he is seldom an hypocrite. He is his own staunchest believer.

NEW USE FOR UNDERSEA BOATS—

In the World War the submarine was known chiefly as a commerce destroyer. An article recently written by an American naval officer, however, discussing the U. S. fleet's maneuvers in the Pacific during the past few weeks, points out that the submarine has another function in which it is actually far more useful and much less barbarous—the function of acting as eyes for the fleet.

During these maneuvers, the "defending" fleet, seeking information about its rival's movements, stationed several submarines off the Hawaiian Islands for observation purposes. The submarines fished the bill admirably. They were able to lurk unseen, as no surface ship could hope to, and with their radios they kept the main force fully informed. As the naval officer remarked, "No type of ship except the submarine could possibly have performed this work."

It is good to realize that the submarine can do valuable work without having to engage in a form of warfare which means terror and death to noncombatants.

FEDERAL EXCISE TAX ON AUTOMOBILES—

The proposed Federal motor vehicle excise tax passed by the house Tuesday should not be accepted with closed eyes. On first glance it seems an easy and fair means of raising revenue—but on consideration, its vices far outweigh its virtues.

One worker in every ten in the country—4,000,000 in all—is dependent on the automobile industry for livelihood, and business generally looks to the industry as one of the leaders in the work of recovery. Automotive plants are located in 41 states—and all states contribute material used in automobile construction. Thus, any move that would retard the sale of motor cars would tend to increase unemployment and slow down business recovery.

There are at present, 26,000,000 motor vehicles in use in this country, one-fifth of which are owned by farmers. Two-thirds of the buyers of cars have incomes below $3,000 a year, and 85 per cent of cars sell for less than $750 wholesale. Consequently, the automobile tax would mainly affect the person of small means. In many cases, the additional cost made necessary by the tax would prevent a sale.

What we need now is business stimulation—and anything that would act against that should be discarded. The automobile sales tax may look good on paper—but in its actual working out, it would very likely prove damaging to the entire country.

SUIT MAY COST STATE TWO MILLIONS MORE

St. Paul, April 1.—(U.P.)—A suit now before the state supreme court may cost the state of Minnesota approximately $2,700,000 in addition to bonus payments made already to Spanish-American war veterans.

Approximately $1,500,000 was appropriated by the state legislature for payment of war bonuses on a basis of $15 a month for every month of active service.

In the action before the high court, a test case taken there under a writ of certiorari by Henry Hanson, St. Paul, an attempt will be made to obtain a bonus for time he served on three naval boats although not in actual service. If Hanson wins his suit, other veterans will be eligible to much increased bonuses, it was said.

Our Woods and Waters

No Spring Spearfishing
It does not come as a surprise to those who have observed the fast disappearing fish life in our lakes and streams that spring spearfishing has been stopped in this state. Minnesota is learning through the sad experience of others that it is necessary to protect spawning fish to assure a reasonable amount of angling.

This is a protective measure pure and simple and the application of good common sense. People who have advocated such a measure in the past were ridiculed and laughed at for their efforts to have fish protected during the reproductive period as other wild life is protected. They were met with jeers, sneers, neglect, indifference and utter selfishness on the part of those who insisted that to ban spring spearfishing was to take away a so-called sport. However, the wise are now realizing the seriousness of the situation and public sentiment is growing in favor of such protection.

Fish obey the demands of Nature for reproduction and it has been a puzzle to many people why man has taken advantage of this impulse to prey upon the fish. It is as reasonable to shoot a setting partridge or pheasant from off her nest or to kill a doe suckling a fawn as it is to kill a female fish dropping her eggs. Invariably it is the female fish that is speared for she is usually larger than the male.

Every spawn filled fish taken at this time is a wasteful destruction of fish life. Brood stock cannot be continually destroyed without paying the penalty sooner or later. It is for this reason that spearfishing during the spawning season has been stopped. It is indeed a common sense measure for the protection of fish life, and one that even the most bitter opponent will be thankful for sooner or later.

The dime-a-dance girl

BY JOAN CLAYTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELLEN ROSSITER, beautiful 20-year-old, falls in love with LARRY HARROWGATE, a young artist whom she meets at Dreamland, a dance hall where she works as a dancer. She is engaged to ELIZABETH BOWES, a debutante, but pays attention to Ellen until his fiancée returns from Europe.

Believing Larry is lost to her, Ellen agrees to marry STEVEN BARCLAY, 27 years old, and wealthy, who has paid hospital expenses for her brother, MIKE. Injured in a street accident, Ellen knows such a marriage will provide for her mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, and make it possible for her sister, BEATRICE, to marry BERT ARMSTRONG.

Barclay has been married and divorced. Scandal accompanied his divorce from Leda Grayson, dancer, and, fearing this talk may be revived, he and Ellen agree to keep their marriage secret until they sail for Europe. Barclay wants to settle a fortune on Ellen but she persuades him to wait until after the ceremony.

Barclay's lawyer, SYMES, regards Ellen as a gold-digger. In a double marriage in a small Connecticut town, Barclay and Ellen and Myra and Armstrong are married. Barclay and his bride drive to his Long Island home.

Ellen reads in a newspaper that Larry's engagement to Elizabeth Bowes is broken. That night Barclay suffers a fatal heart attack. Doctors, nurses and Syms, the lawyer, arrive. Syms tells Ellen papers have been stolen proving Barclay's divorce and therefore her marriage is not legal. To avoid scandal she relinquishes all claim to the fortune. Only FERGUS, the butler, knows of her presence in the house that night. Ellen learns Larry Harrowgate is Barclay's nephew. Ellen goes to the city, admitted to keeping her marriage secret to protect Barclay's honor and her own.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLII

A WEEK later Ellen called on Syms. He had telephoned to say he had received the license. The week following Steven's death had been a cruel test of the girl's courage. Myra, Molly and Bert all had helped. Even Mike with his constant, fretful appeals for amusement had helped. Life and the everyday demands of living had caught her up and whirled her onward.

She was a trifle pale that crisp fall day but her blue eyes were clear and steady and her sweet mouth could smile. Syms looked at the girl and saw that she was changed. There were courage and bravery in her face now, courage and bravery that were definitely, unmistakably adult.

"You're looking well," he said inadequately, and stopped and said no more for a space.

"It's been a hard pull, I know," he continued abruptly, "but everything's gone well. You've seen the papers, of course?"

"I have," she said.

Much had been printed about Steven's death and about Steven's will. A sharp legal battle was anticipated between his sister, Mrs. Elliot Barclay Harrowgate, and Leda Grayson Barclay whose divorce had been so recently set aside. No news of Ellen had appeared—no suggestion that another woman had been with Steven when he died. Headlines chronicled the death at St. Agatha's Hospital. Headlines announced that Leda Grayson Barclay, the widow, had arrived too late, speeding by plane from Mexico.

"I wanted to go to the funeral," Ellen announced forlornly as Syms pulled up a chair for her. "That would have been the sheerest folly," he pointed out, quite his legal, business-like self again. "You've been so sensible about everything else I'm surprised to hear you say that."

Ellen forced a valiant, apologetic smile. He looked away with the consideration she had found so unexpected, then looked back again. She was composed now. Her hands were steady and her eyes were dry.

"I'm sensible about that too—now," she said quietly.

"I've wanted to tell you and here's my chance," Syms began in awkward haste. "If there's anything you need I'll be glad to be of assistance."

THE square Rossiter chin lifted. "There's nothing at all," Ellen said quickly. "I've always made my own way and I still can. I've been a parasite long enough. Monday I'm going back to work."

"Not on Monday!"

"Yes—Monday!" She checked herself to add, "Don't be alarmed. I wouldn't dream of returning to the store. Lorena came to see me and said she'd try to get my place back for me, but I couldn't do that. There'd be too much gossip and speculation—and besides my brother-in-law works there. I wouldn't want to chance anything coming up that might hurt him."

"Nothing will come up," Syms replied a little uneasily. He rose, walked silently to the end of the room and back. He bent over his desk before he spoke again.

"Well, here it is." He fumbled in a drawer, produced a document and tossed it to Ellen. The paper opened outward beneath her fingers. She was looking at the license which announced on Sept. 3 the marriage of Steven Barclay to Ellen Rossiter, witnessed by Myra Armstrong and Molly Rossiter, signed by Rev. Mr. Cyrus Southey. Ellen read the words with fascinated, fearful eyes. Suddenly she tore the document once across.

"Stop that," Syms called sharply. "I'm going to tear it up," the girl said.

"You must do no such thing! You might need it terribly some time. If the fact that you were alone with Steven the night he died ever comes out can't you see how valuable a marriage license might be to prove your own—innocence?"

"I'd never use it!" Ellen declared passionately. "I couldn't!"

SYMES did not respond. There was a long silence. He sat down again, his eyes avoiding her eyes.

"What are you keeping back?" she asked in a clear, even tone. "You've heard nothing of Fergus, have you?" he questioned deliberately.

"What made you ask that?" "Nothing especially," he answered, troubled by the steadiness of her glance. "I just wondered because it happens that your presentiment concerning Fergus was correct. He's a rogue—or so I believe."

Ellen's frightened eyes did not waver. "It appears," Syms continued, clearing his throat, "that it was Fergus who stole the papers proving Steven's divorce and turned them over to Leda Grayson. Fergus was the only person who had access to the safe."

The lawyer spread out his hands. "Of course we'll never prove it. However, I've come to the conclusion that Fergus is dangerous."

"What could he do?" the girl whispered. She looked again at the marriage license in her hands.

"If you're going to worry," Syms responded, "I'll be sorry I mentioned him. I only did it because I thought you should be warned."

"In the unlikely event he is able to locate you, in the unlikely event he does turn up, just ignore anything he says or, better still, refer him to me. I'll settle him quick enough. Blackmail's actionable!"

Syms continued to regard her. "Don't you see now why you should keep the license for your own protection?"

She said nothing at all.

"You have the advantage of being poor," Syms suggested more confidently. "A real advantage in many ways. Fergus' only interest in you would be getting money. When he learns you haven't any he'll leave you alone."

ELLEN looked around the ordered desk, whipped a match from a holder, struck it and applied the glowing end to her marriage license. Syms made no

Reading room in rear of church open Tuesdays and Saturdays from 3 to 5 P. M. All are welcome.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world on Sunday, April 3, 1932, is "Unreality."

The Golden Text is: "Forever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven. Through thy precepts I get understanding; therefore I hate every false way" (Psalms 119:89,104).

Among the passages which constitute the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him" (I Corinthians 8:6).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following quotation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Good cannot result in evil. As God Himself is good and is Spirit, goodness and spirituality must be immortal. Their opposites, evil and matter, are mortal error, and error has no creator. If goodness and spirituality are real, evil and materiality are unreal and cannot be the outcome of an infinite God, good" (p. 277).

It is as natural for women to love style as it is for birds to preen their beautiful plumage in the sun-dappled foliage of their forest homes. The designers, dressmakers and those who conduct the dress shops of our land have brought about a renaissance of color and style that adds a touch of charm to the lives of all people.

CAGE MENTORS TO CLOSE RULE MEET IN CHICAGO TODAY

Chicago, April 2.—(UP)—The National Association of Basketball Coaches entered its final day's session here today after having gone on record as opposed to any change in the center jump or foul rule.

About 60 coaches from all sections of the country yesterday voted against recommending any changes in either the center jump or the foul rule to the rules committee which meets later in the year.

Although some coaches feel the game needs speeding up, the majority believe that a unification of the interpretation of the present rules will do more than anything else to help.

Among the changes discussed were the following: elimination of the tip-off by putting the ball in play from out of bounds; make all free throws at the end of the half and use the system of cancellation; limit the dribble in the back court to one bounce; place a time limit in which a team must advance the ball past midcourt; and elimination of the backward pass.

Uniform interpretation of the rules was strongly advocated by George Keogan, Notre Dame coach, who said: "Basketball can't progress as long as the rules are interpreted differently in various sections of the country. Interpretation must be uniform."

Shamrocks Open 5-Game Series With Duluth

Chicago, April 2.—(UP)—The Chicago Shamrocks will meet Duluth in the first of a 5-game series at the Chicago stadium Sunday night for the American league hockey championship. The Shamrocks finished the season in first place, and Duluth won the right to play in the finals by defeating Kansas City in a play-off between the second and third place teams. Duluth defeated Kansas City in the deciding game last night at Duluth, 2-1.

Illinois Denies Willard's Petition for License

Chicago, April 2.—(UP)—Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion, will not be granted a license to engage in an exhibition bout in Illinois, the state athletic commission announced today. Willard is 47, and the Illinois rule places the age limit for boxers at 35.

"The Illinois commission is averse to permitting so-called exhibitions where the sole object is to provide the exhibitor with funds," said the announcement.

Philadelphia, April 2.—(UP)—A man arrested today as a robber suspect was held by Philadelphia police for questioning in connection with the Eastern post office bombing last December which caused the death of three men.

550 CONTESTANTS ENTERED FROM H. S., COLLEGES, CLUBS

Minneapolis, April 2.—(UP)—Meet records were expected to fall in groups tonight when the fourth annual Minnesota relays are conducted at the University of Minnesota field-house.

Track athletes from high schools, colleges and clubs from all parts of the midwest have entered. Five hundred and fifty contestants will take part in the meet. Eleven colleges, including three Big Ten conference institutions, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa will be represented in the competitions.

Thirty-one events will be run off, beginning with high school preliminaries in the afternoon, until 10 p. m., when the last race is completed. A dozen Twin City high schools, thirty from out in the state and military schools are entered.

Records are expected to fall in the sixty-yard dash where Hal Thompson, Minnesota sprinter, who has approached world record time in the event lately, will race again. Walter Hass, football and track star, and George Saling of Iowa.

Saling also will compete against Charles Schelliey in the 70-yard high hurdles. Cam Hackie, Minnesota track captain, will renew an old rivalry with Ted Shaw of Wisconsin in the high jump. Hackie holds the present field house record of six feet four inches.

Clarence Munn, all-American football star, will enter his third and last Minnesota relays in the shotput.

The Stillwater high school team, winner of the first Gopher relays in 1929, has entered a strong team this year while other high schools will full teams include Farmington, New Ulm, Lake City, Forest Lake, White Bear and Cannon Falls.

BERG GAINS DRAW WITH SAM FULLER

New York, April 2.—(UP)—Ring progress of Sammy Fuller, sawed-off Boston Italian, was retarded slightly today by his ten round draw with Jack Kid Berg, veteran British lightweight, in Madison Square Garden last night. The fight also established that Berg, supposed to be a "hollow shell," is not that, nor is he through as a ring campaigner.

In Berg, Fuller found just about all the boxer he could care to meet on any one evening. Although Berg was the short end in the 8 to 5 betting, he won four of the first five rounds. The second was even as was the tenth. The others went to Fuller.

Berg weighed 138½, Fuller 136½. In the ten round semi-final Morris Sherman of Detroit won a decision over Phil Rafferty of New York. Rafferty weighed 143½, Sherman 148. It was a stupid fight with the spectators booing almost continually.

Hazleton, N. D., April 2.—(UP)—A coroner's inquest today returned a verdict of suicide in connection with the finding of the body of Charles Harnett, cashier of the First State Bank of Burnstad.

Closing Events Today Swimming Championships

New Haven, Conn., April 2.—(UP)—With five world records already piled up, the National Senior A. A. U. swimming championships at Carnegie pool offered the 500-yard free style event and the 300-yard medley race for the record hunters to shoot at on today's closing program.

The only other event scheduled today was the high-board diving competition.

Last night two more universal times were recorded in the finals of three events. Leonard Spence of the New York A. C. established a new mark of 2:44 in the 220-yard breast stroke, beating his previous record of 2:44 6-10, made at Chicago last April.

Record Crowd Expected for Hockey Play-offs

Toronto, April 2.—(UP)—More than 14,000 fans were expected to swarm into Maple Leaf gardens tonight for the deciding semi-final match between Montreal Maroons and Toronto Maple Leafs for the right to meet the New York Rangers in the final series for the world's ice hockey championship.

Toronto is a 3 to 2 favorite to emerge from tonight's battle with the necessary greater goal total for the two games. The first contest at Montreal Thursday night ended in a one-goal tie.

The Leafs' record for the past season show they are a strong home ice team. The Maroons made an unexpectedly weak demonstration Thursday night.
